

Student Assistant in Business Development at H.P. Therkelsen

Are you passionate about Digitalization, data analysis and a data-oriented projects? H.P. Therkelsen, is seeking a dedicated and talented student assistant to support our Business Development department on our digitalization journey.

As a student assistant, you will be a part of our journey towards enhancing our BI setup, data analysis and much more. You will engage in developing our Data Warehouse with the opportunity to dive into simulations, predictive analytics, AI, and the implementation of new systems and apps. Your work will contribute significantly to transforming us into a more data-driven company.

Your Responsibilities:

- Support the development of state-of-the-art BI setup, data analysis and reporting tools
- Engage in the development and optimization of our Data Warehouse
- Collaborate on projects involving simulations, predictive analytics and AI
- Contribute to process optimization and the automation of KPIs across the organization
- Analyze and process data, supporting the Business with insights
- Help to optimize and automate processes while maintaining data quality and integrity.

About You:

- You are currently pursuing a relevant higher education e.g. innovation & business engineering, Data technical studies, economics or similar fields
- A data-driven mindset with the ability to apply it in your daily work
- Strong analytical skills with the capability to analyze and interpret data
- Experience with SQL or other coding languages
- Power BI and SSAS competences is a plus
- Curious, Independent, proactive, and willing to take initiative
- Fluent in English or Danish

Why Join Us:

- Opportunity to influence your work tasks as you gain experience and express interest.
- A dynamic environment that continuously pushes the digital agenda.
- Flexibility around your studies, exams, etc., with the possibility of full-time work during holidays

At HPT, we value a good work climate, professionalism, and focus on your development. We offer a position in a Danish-owned transport and logistics company with short decision paths an informal tone. If you are eager to learn and contribute to our business development, we would love to hear from you.

Please send your resume to us through: hpt.dk/karriere/#ledige-stillinger – choose Student Assistant.

Our office is located in Padborg with possibility for a hybrid model. We are not fixed on a number of hours, but imagine in the range of 10-15 hours per week.

If you have any questions, please contact HR manager Jan Sørensen phone 7367 5172 / E-mail: jsr@hpt.dk

About HPT

HPT is a dynamic, 105-year-old family-led business specializing in transport and logistics for temperature-sensitive product groups. We are committed to high service levels for our customers and creating an exciting and pleasant work environment for our more than 290 employees

Read more at: www.hpt.dk

